TAKE A SLICE OUT OF LIFE WITH
SAN DIEGO'S BEST PIZZAS

What kind of person doesn't like pizza? A weird-DOUGH! Cheesy joke aside, we all knead a little pizza in our life. In a city as large as San Diego, it can be hard to find that perfect slice. That's why we've compiled a list of the finest pies in America's Finest City.

WOODSTOCK'S PIZZA

PACIFIC BEACH

Chuck Woodstock founded Woodstock's Pizza in 1977, and his vision to deliver irresistible dishes derived from family recipes lives on today. From choosing your own crust (including gluten free!), to selecting one of their rich sauces and toppings, Woodstock's never disappoints self-proclaimed "pizza connoisseurs." Try one of their local favorites, such as their Kickin' Carnitas prepared with creamy chipotle sauce, slow-marinated pork, crispy bacon, red onions and fresh cilantro, or Woody's Wauai with Canadian-style bacon, crispy bacon, red onion and juicy pineapple.

FIG TREE CAFÉ

HILLCREST

Hillcrest's Fig Tree Café cooks their pizza fresh in a brick oven for a crispy texture and taste. Order one of their veggie-filled pies, such as their Margherita made with tomato, basil and garlic, or their Portobello with brie cheese, arugula and truffle oil. Looking for out-of-the-box toppings? Fig Tree's Shrimp pizza featuring bacon, Anaheim chilies, scallions, truffle cream and cilantro is equally delicious! figtreeeatery.com, 619.29.2010

PAN BON

LITTLE ITALY

From Margherita and Vegana to Prosciutto e Funghi, Pan Bon's pizza offerings will transport your taste buds to "The Belpaese" itself. In addition to an assortment of Old World Italian creations, the Little Italy eatery showcases authentic pizzas made with Lievito Madre, a starter-type yeast that rises for over 48 hours. This process helps break down the gluten and allows for easier digestion. Owner Giancarlo Anselmi and Chef Riccardo Brentegani are the culinary geniuses behind the Northern Italian cuisine at Pan Bon. Stop by on Wednesdays for Pan Bon's "All-You-Can-Eat Giro Pizza Night" that's just $15 per person.
